

“ ”

Jennifer Bae

Executive Director of Global Innovation,
The American College of Cardiology

It takes collaboration to bring digital health solutions to scale globally. The American College of Cardiology seeks to assure that health tech be developed with patients, clinicians and clinical workflow at the forefront. Another essential ingredient is the regulatory environment in which those technologies operate. I am grateful to DiMe for synthesizing that information for developers as a resource.

